

RELIGIOUS FREEDOM &
BUSINESS FOUNDATION

FAITH & BUSINESS BUILD A BETTER WORLD

Faith@Work

Three Fortune 500 Models

Interfaith Employee Resource Groups (ERGs)

Walmart, Salesforce, Accenture and DELL Technologies, among others, have active interfaith ERGs with associated faith-specific chapters and/or faith-specific ERGs.

Faith-Specific ERGs

Companies as diverse as Intel, American Airlines, American Express and Texas Instruments have faith-specific ERGs, including groups for agnostics/atheists.

Workplace Chaplains

Hundreds of companies across America have corporate chaplains. Among the Fortune 100, Tyson Foods is a prime example, with nearly 100 chaplains on staff serving the needs of all employees regardless of religion or belief.

How will your company respond?

The Religious Freedom & Business Foundation has resources to help you navigate this growing movement that increases employee recruitment, engagement and retention. It also provides powerful new resources for customer and market understanding as well as community engagement. To learn more, contact RFBF president Dr. Brian Grim: 814-574-8672 or brian@religiousfreedomandbusiness.org.

ReligiousFreedomAndBusiness.org