

RELIGIOUS FREEDOM & BUSINESS FOUNDATION

FAITH@WORK CONFERENCE

Feb. 9-11, 2021

By the Numbers

75

COMPANIES

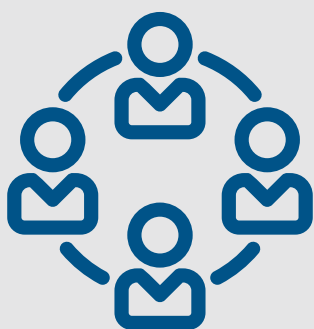

Companies with employees participating included tech giants like Google, Microsoft and Salesforce, travel industry leaders like American Airlines, and providers of our nation's food like Tyson Foods.

11

Fortune 500 VPs

Vice presidents from numerous Fortune 500 corporations expressed their support for religious inclusion at work, including VPs from Intel, Dell, Texas Instruments, PayPal and SAP.

400

PARTICIPANTS

Participants came from 75 companies, 26 universities, 5 business schools, 7 news outlets and two government agencies, in addition to 46 Non-Governmental Organizations (NGOs).

1,600

Hours of Participant Engagement

Participants spent an average of 4 hours engaged at the conference, with some attending the whole conference and others selectively tuning into the more than 30 presentations, panels and discussions.

26

UNIVERSITIES

Participants from 26 universities (incl. Brown, Princeton, Rice, Seattle & Seattle Pacific, Tufts, USC, Wheaton) added to the discussions and panels, including our co-convener, the Busch School of Business at The Catholic University of America, and our Silver Sponsor BYU Marriott School of Business.