Faith-Friendly Workplace REDI Index Survey 2027

INTRODUCTION

The Faith-Friendly Workplace REDI Index is the leading international benchmark for measuring how effectively organizations include religion, belief, and non-belief as part of a high-performing workplace culture. Companies use the REDI Index to benchmark progress, identify opportunities for improvement, and receive recognition for leading practice.

The 2027 survey opens on January 1, 2027, and covers activities occurring during the 12-month period ending March 15, 2027. The deadline for submission is March 15, 2027.

The survey covers 11 core areas of workplace practice, each worth up to 10 points, for a maximum score of 110 points. Points are awarded both for having relevant policies, programs, and practices in place and for demonstrating that these efforts are substantial and well established. An optional Bonus Question allows organizations to earn up to 10 additional points for innovative faith-friendly initiatives not otherwise captured in the survey, bringing the maximum possible score to 120 points.

Final scores are subject to verification of submitted responses and supporting documentation. This process helps ensure consistency, credibility, and fairness across participating organizations.

Participating organizations gain valuable benchmarking, recognition for faith-friendly workplace practices, and insight into emerging best practices among leading employers. The REDI Index recognizes that religion and belief remain important dimensions of identity for billions of people worldwide and that organizations that engage faith and belief effectively are often better positioned to build trust, strengthen teams, and serve diverse communities.

Results are announced annually at Dare to Overcome in the United States and at the Faith@Work Summit in London. Dare to Overcome brings together employee resource groups, workplace chaplains, executive sponsors, and business leaders committed to advancing freedom of religion or belief, inclusive workplaces, ethical leadership, and human dignity.

Thank you for participating in the 2027 Faith-Friendly Workplace REDI Index. Your involvement helps advance workplaces where people of all faiths, beliefs, and backgrounds can thrive.

Question 5

The company provides chaplains or other spiritual care

5. Company provides professional chaplaincy services

* 5. Does your company provide formal professional chaplaincy* or other spiritual care services to serve its employees?

If yes (or you have informal spiritual care provided, e.g., through faith ERGs), you will be asked to provide details in a follow-up question.

- ☐ Yes, either in-house or through EAP (5 points)
- ☐ No, we don't have formal professional care services, but we have informal spiritual care options and/or opportunities for employees (1 point)
- ☐ No

* Professional chaplains are people of any faith community - Buddhist, Christian, Hindu, Humanist, Jewish, Muslim, Sikh and more - ordained or endorsed by that community, also with specific training and chaplaincy certification. Their role is to provide emotional, spiritual, religious, pastoral, ethical, and/or existential care in a secular setting. Those secular settings include hospitals, corrections, long-term care, sports teams, palliative care, military, hospices, workplaces, mental health and universities. Providing this care in secular settings means that professional chaplains speak, listen to and care for people of any faith or of no faith. Their job is not to proselytize or convert the people they care for. Some faith-based counseling that is part of the company's employee assistance program (EAP) could qualify.

 Note that formal professional care services that include spiritual care options and/or opportunities for employees include such things as the option to choose faith-based counseling as part of the company's employee assistance program (EAP).
